Koç Holding

Koç Holding reported consolidated net income of TL7.0bn in 4Q25 (Consensus: TL4.4bn). The results point to a marked year-on-year improvement (4Q24: TL8.0bn net loss), supported by better financing costs at associates and the rebound in the monetary position item under inflation accounting. The monetary position item improved from -TL1.1bn in 4Q24 to +TL4.6bn in 4Q25. For FY25, consolidated net income came in at TL22.0bn (FY24: TL1.7bn).

Revenue and operational outlook. The Holding's non-financial revenues declined by 3% y/y to TL480bn in 4Q25, while they decreased by 13% y/y to TL1,839bn in FY25.

Segment outlook. Automotive segment net income declined by 5% y/y to TL17.7bn for the full year, yet remained the largest contributor to consolidated earnings. Energy segment net income increased by 46% y/y to TL13.4bn, supported by Tüpraş's strong operational performance. Consumer durables continued to face pressure amid weak demand and tight liquidity conditions, posting a net loss of TL4.4bn. Financial services recorded a net loss of TL0.6bn. The "Other" segment, which also reflects monetary effects stemming from the solo net cash position, posted a net loss of TL4.2bn.

Balance sheet, liquidity and dividend flow. Koç Holding's solo net cash position stood at USD815mn (TL34.9bn) as of end-4Q25. In 2025, the Holding received TL33.4bn in cash dividends from subsidiaries and paid TL17.5bn in cash dividends over the same period.

Valuation and Net Asset Value (NAV) discount. We estimate Koç Holding's NAV at approximately TL800bn. Based on the latest close, the stock is trading at a 34% discount to NAV, versus a ~26% average over the past five years. The long-term average discount stands at ~14%.

View. In 4Q25, the easing inflation-accounting-related drag supported a meaningful improvement versus the same period last year, while net income came in above consensus. Following the results, we raise our 12-month target price for Koç Holding from TL294.00 to TL310.00, reflecting our upward revision to Ford Otosan's target value and the incorporation of updated values for non-listed assets—most notably the marina—into our model. We maintain our BUY recommendation.
